

Sinclair Broadcasting wants to force their stations to play an anti-Kerry documentary right before the election. This is not in the public's interest to have large media companies trying to change the course of our elections by using our airwaves.

The public airwaves are paid for by Democratic and Republican tax dollars and shouldn't be used to advance the cause of one over the other.

The public news has gone to hell. No real reporting from Washington DC is done any more except maybe by the National Public TV people.

Strengthen media ownership rules, don't weaken them.

David B. Simmerer